emotional contagion

noun
the tendency to feel and express emotions similar to and influenced by those of others; also, the phenomenon of one person’s negative thoughts or anxiety affecting another’s mood

Examples
Unlike cognitive contagion, emotional contagion is less conscious and more automatic.

Word Origin
c 2000