

Judgment vs. Judgement

In American English, judgement is generally considered a misspelling of judgment for all uses of the word, notwithstanding individual preferences.

Pay no attention to the myth, widely repeated on the web, that judgement is the original spelling and that judgment is a 19th-century American invention. This is simply untrue, as shown by an abundance of readily available evidence anyone can view online.