Image Description: Screenshot of a Tweet by Eddie the Giant Librarian (@EddieKristan) that says the following:

"I had an elderly [library] patron [a library patron is a person who has a library card or membership] who didn't have internet and ask me to look up some obituaries because she hadn't heard from her gang of high school friends for a while. I found them all. She cried. I cried. I hope I handled it gently enough for her."
