

Lindsay Bosslett · ★ Top Commenter · Lincoln Park, New Jersey

I remember when my mom first joined FB and tried to add me as a friend by writing my name as her status update over and over. Good times.

Reply · Like · 👍 423 · Follow Post · June 9, 2014 at 4:47pm

Leina Rodriguez · ★ Top Commenter

I remember when she joined and also started learning what lol, btw, etc. Let's just say our relationship was tested that week.

Reply · Like · 👍 55 · June 9, 2014 at 9:27pm

Cara Roxanne · ★ Top Commenter

My mother's one and only status for 2 years was her fiance's name, in all capital letters, because she was trying to search for his page.

Reply · Like · 👍 162 · June 9, 2014 at 9:28pm

Katie VanderWal · ★ Top Commenter · Legal Administrative Assistant at Dignity Memorial

I remember the day my mom joined Facebook because after about five minutes of me adding her, I had 93 notifications... all from her.

Reply · Like · 👍 161 · June 9, 2014 at 9:32pm

Julie Jenkins · ★ Top Commenter · Owner-Operator at Dragon Wing Designs

I remember 15 years ago my uncle got a cell phone. He had to turn it off when he was working so he would turn it on at the end of the day and it would say "you have XX missed calls". One day he called me and said "what did you need? I missed your call" I was so confused, asked my bf if he called, nope we didn't. He said "yes you did my phone says I have 12 missed calls and you're #12 in my saved number list so thats you!"

Reply · Like · 👍 16 · Follow Post · June 9, 2014 at 9:53pm